

Sun Tunnels, Nancy Holt, 1973-1976

Agnès Dénes, Tree Mountain, A Living Time Capsule, 1992

© The Shed

Alan Sonfist, Time Landscape, 1978

© the author for Hyperallergic

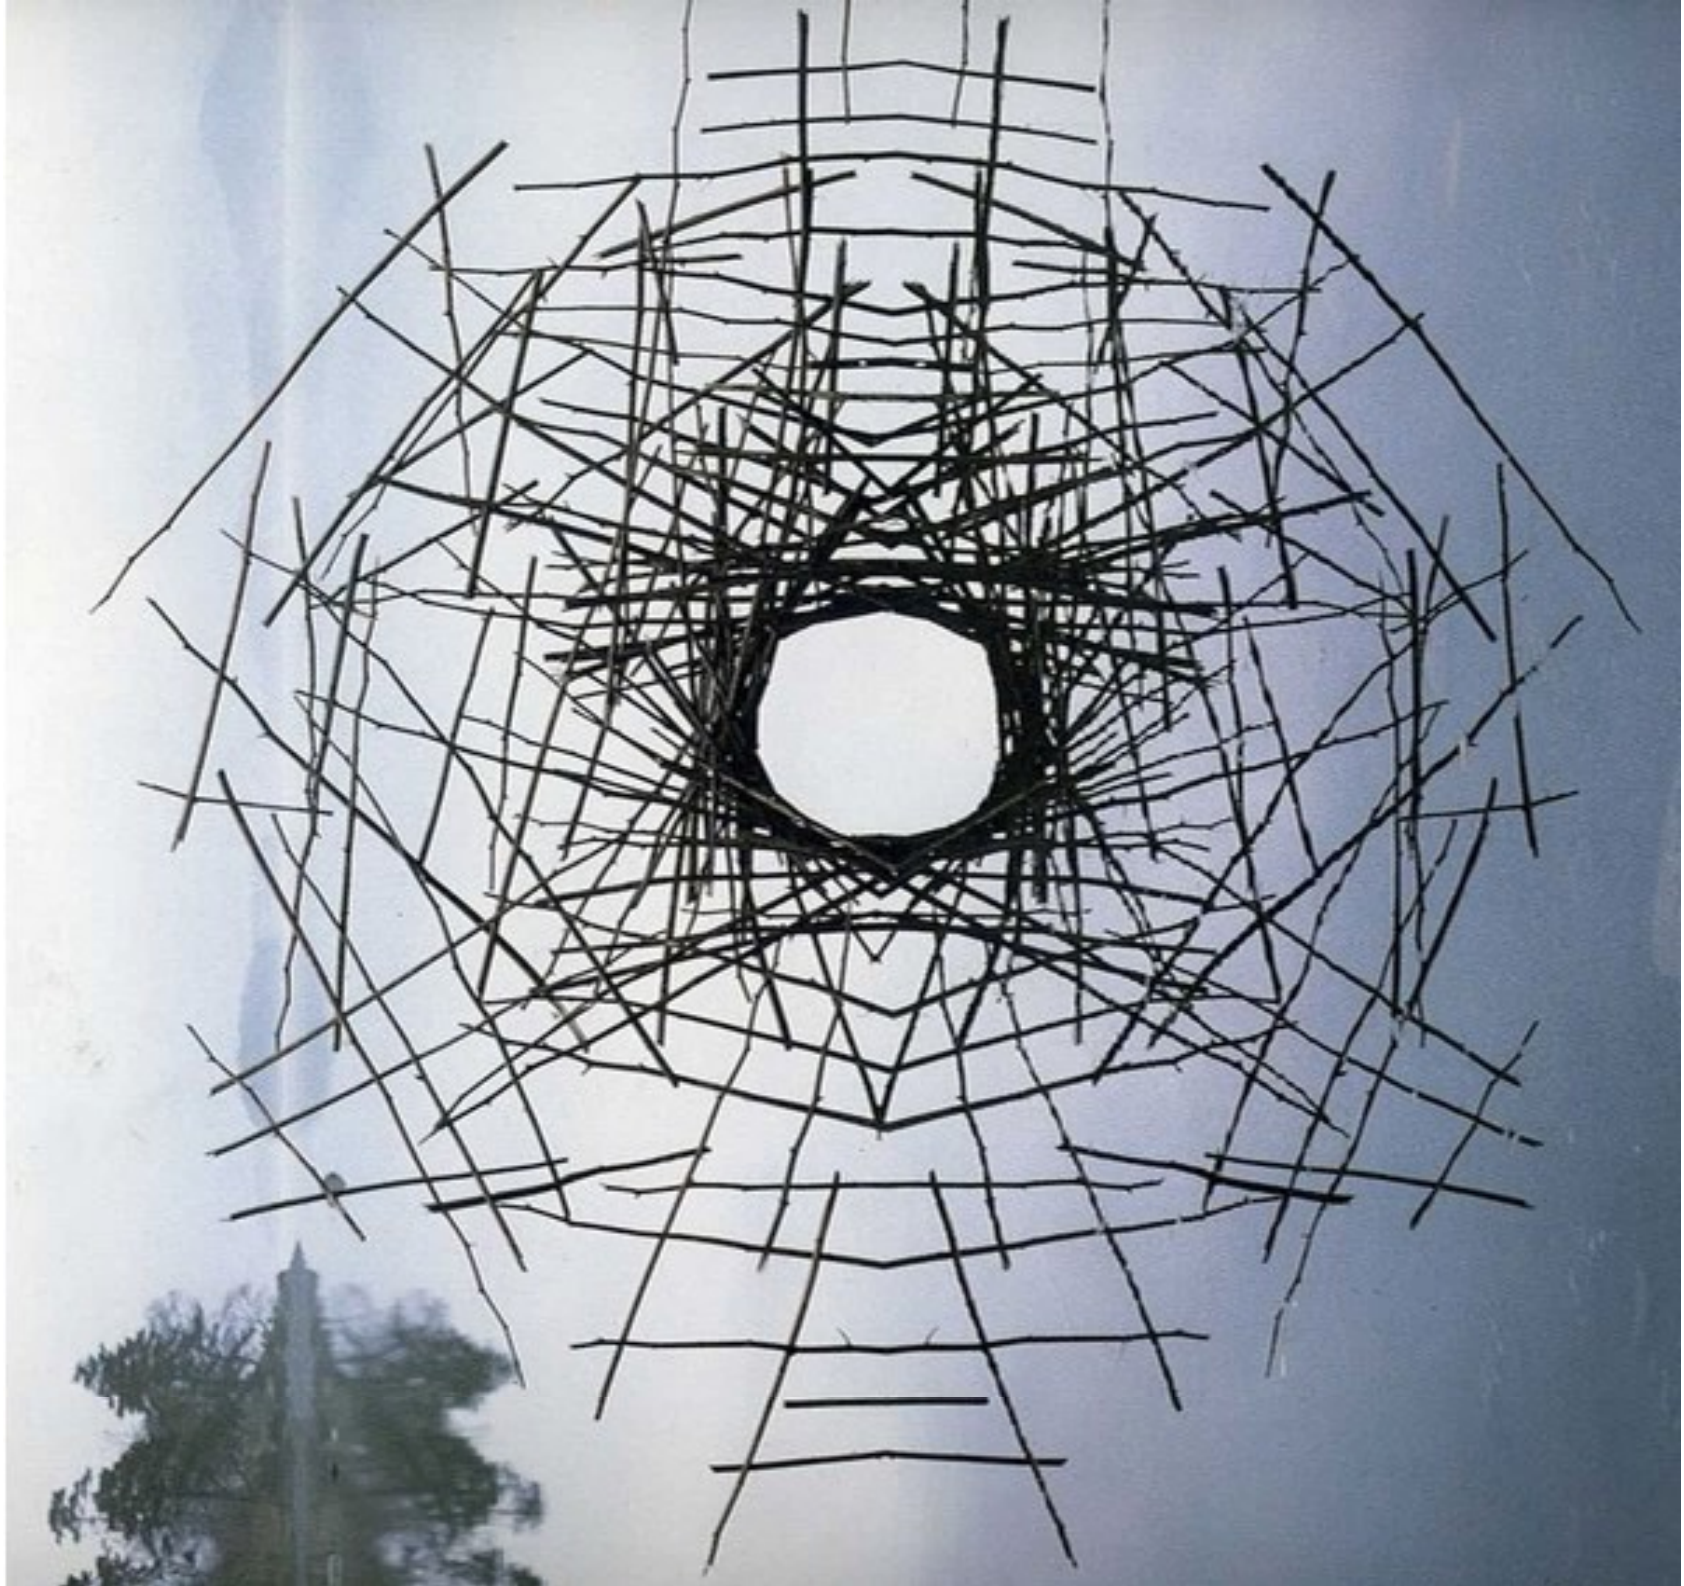

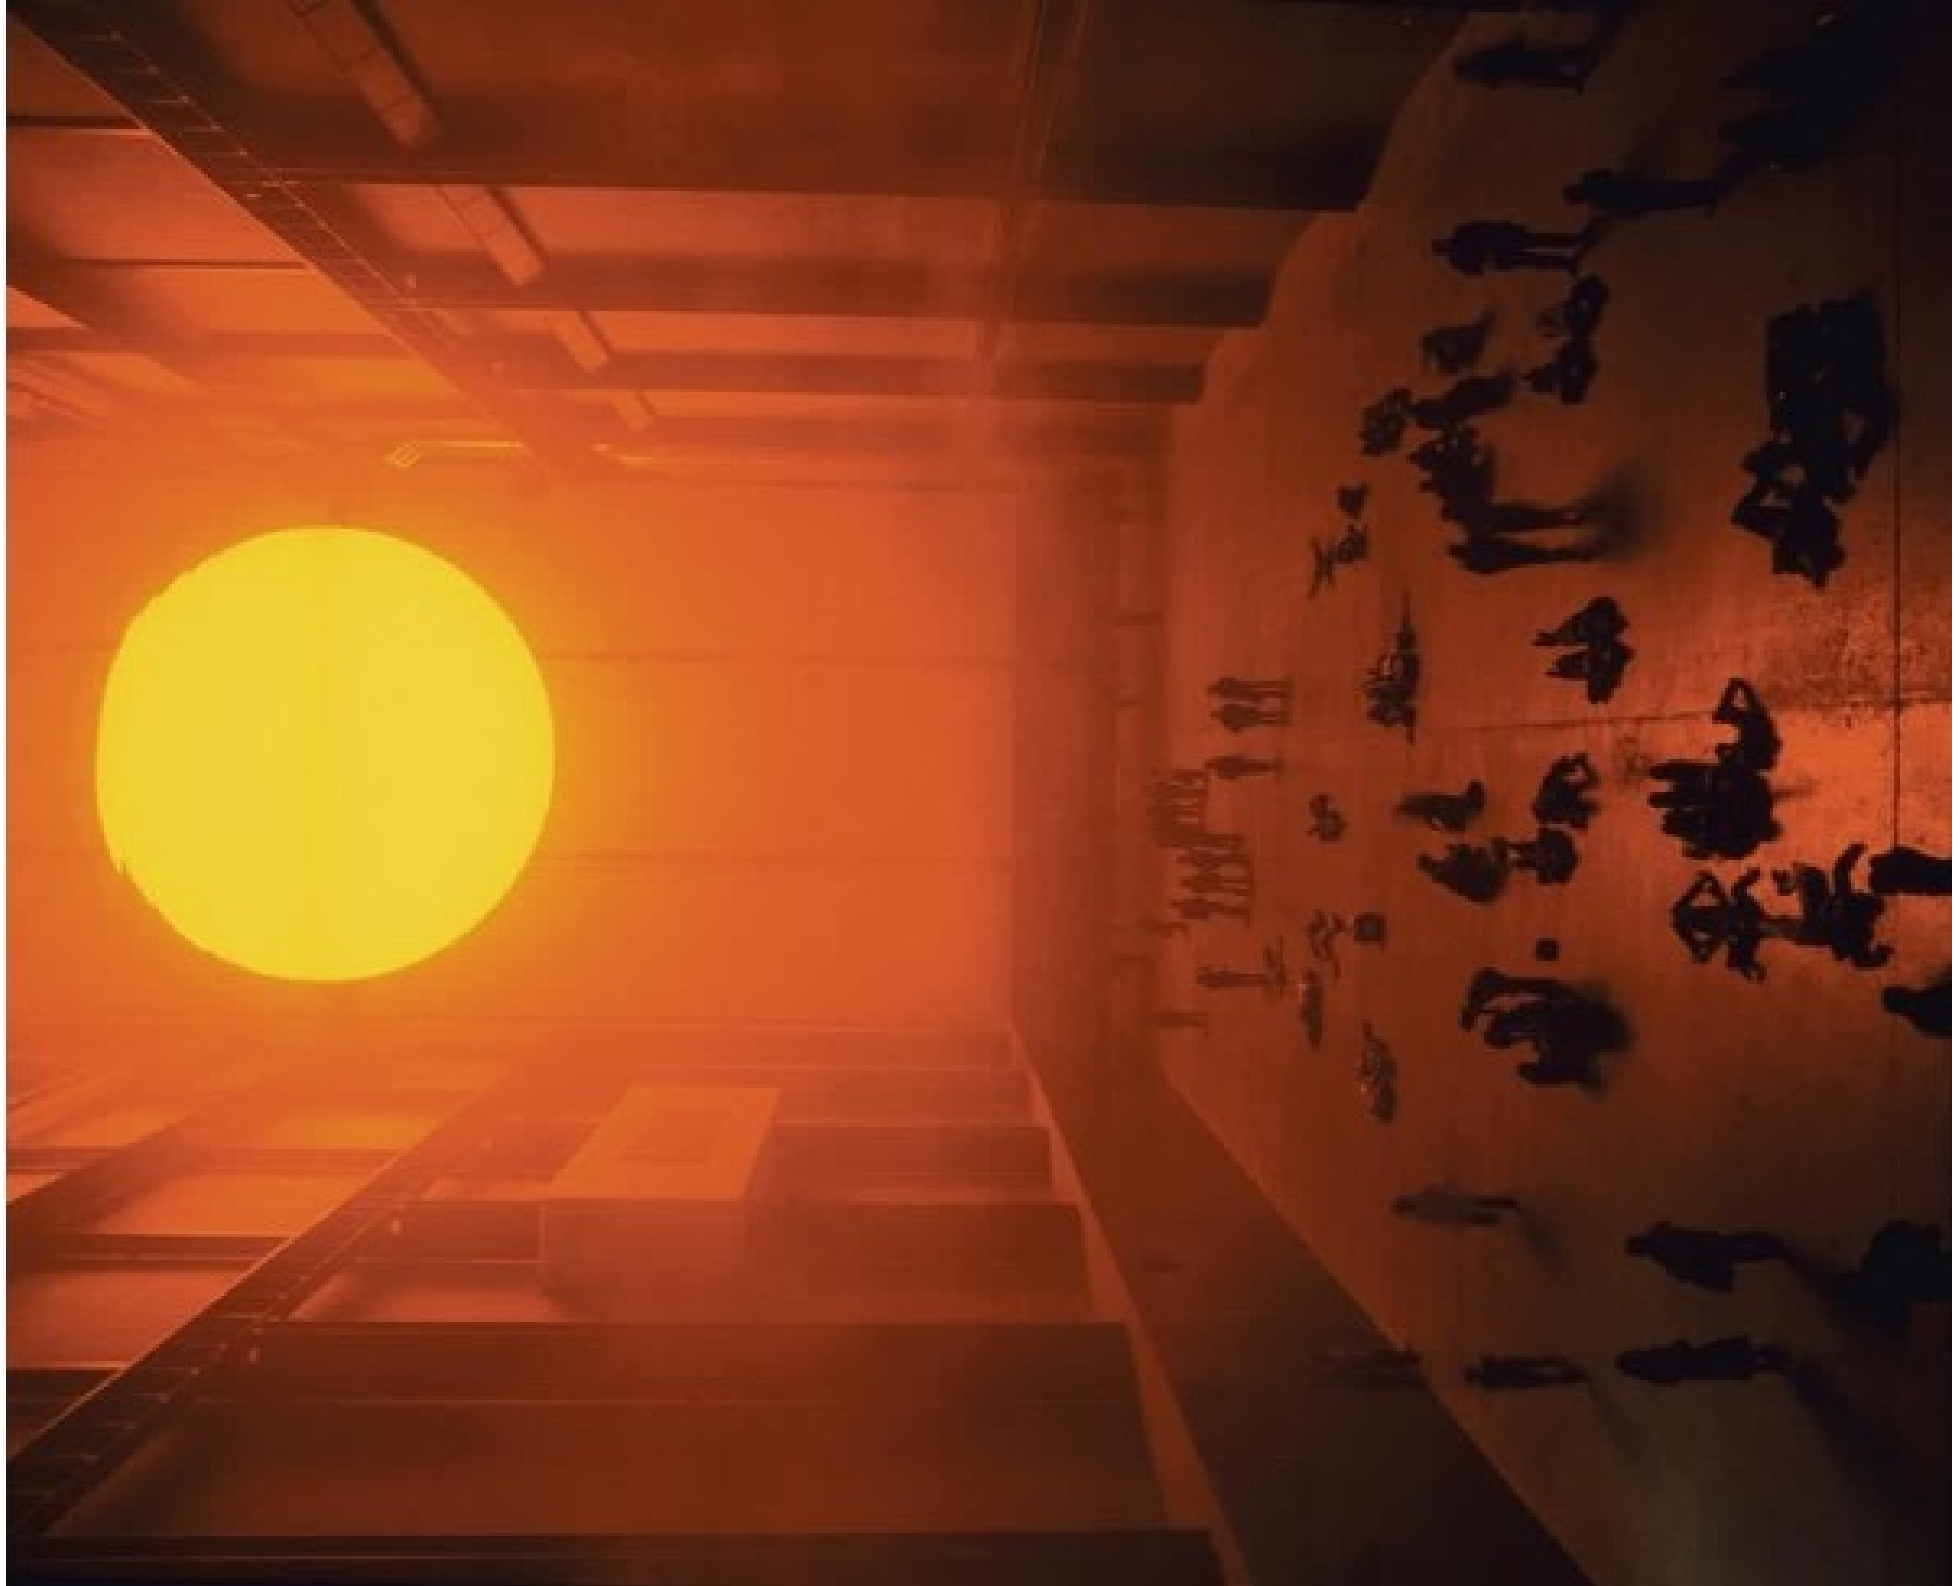

Patricia-Johanson-Fair-Park-Lagoon

Dibujos del Viento, Angeles Peña, 2015

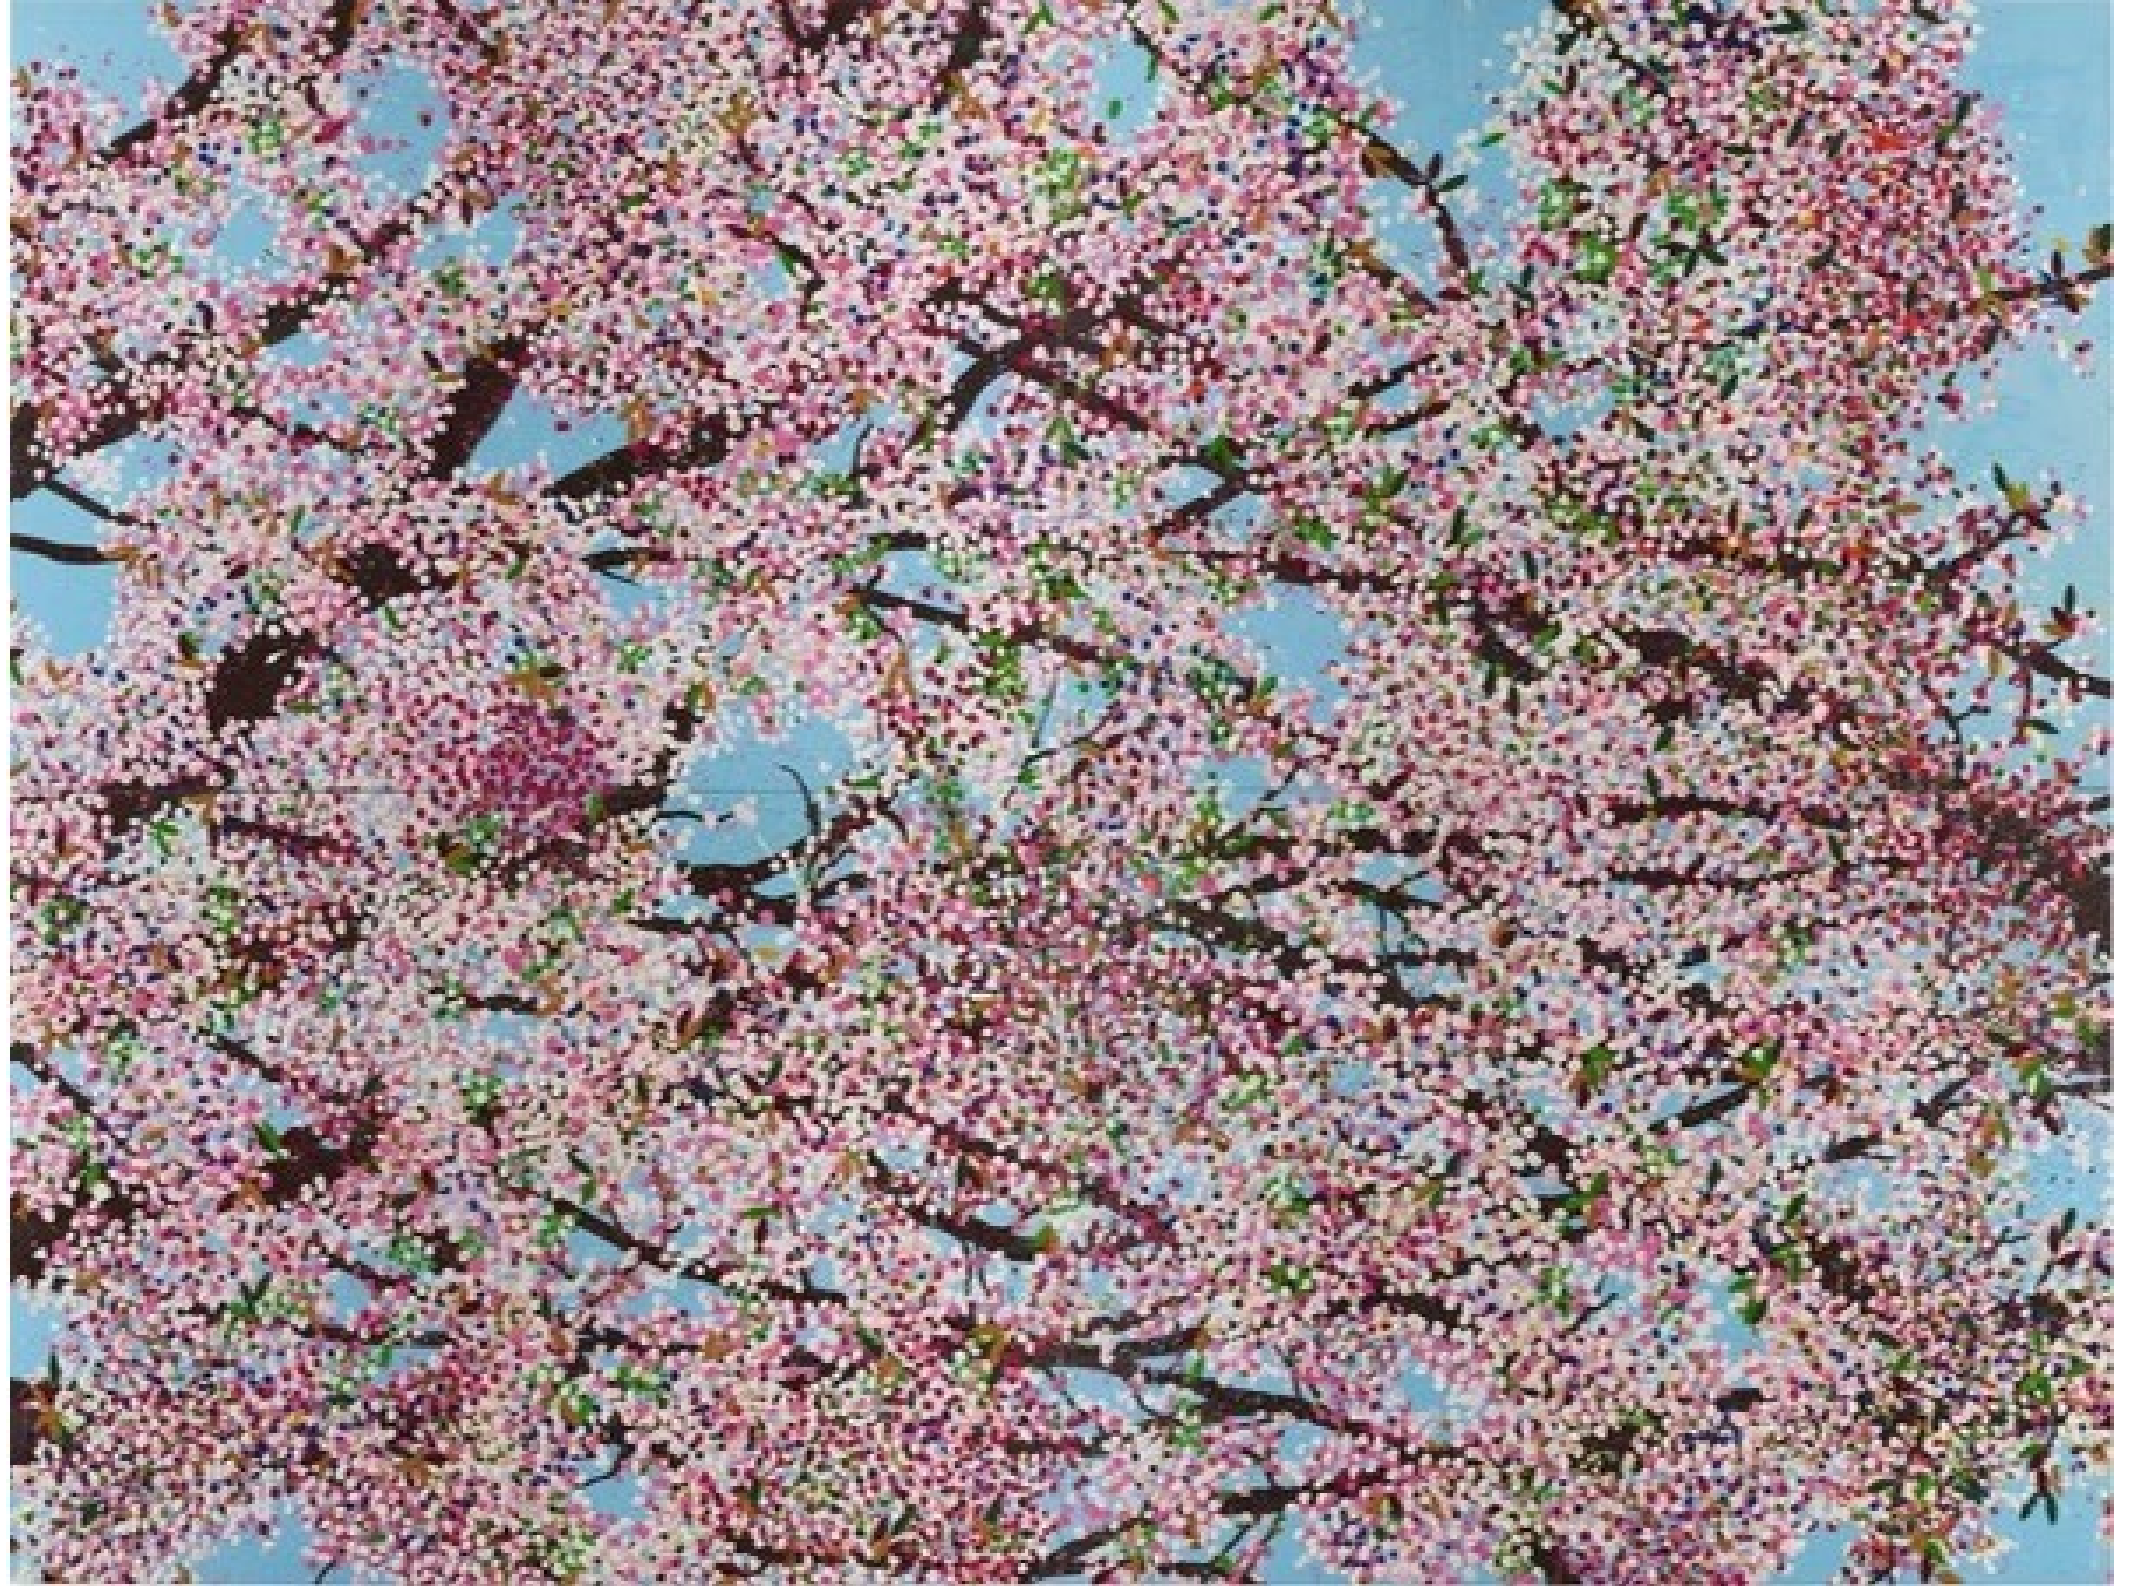

Cultured Tea-Cornel, Herbiers de saul, 100 x 60 cm

Simon Beck, Les Arcs © Simon Beck

I DON'T BELIEVE IN
GLOBAL WARMING
GLOBAL WARMING
I DON'T BELIEVE IN

Demiak, Memoir of loss X, 2015

Ice Watch, Olafur Eliasson, 2015

Jenny Kendler, Lounging Through the Flood in the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, 2019

It is likely that coral reefs, described by Darwin as "amongst the most wonderful objects of the world," will be the first major ecosystem of the modern world to become extinct. Global warming is causing BLEACHING and increasing ocean acidification, which are marine animals, from recovering. Combined with other threats, the Great Barrier Reef in Australia, one of the seven wonders of the natural world, could be dead within 100 years.

Bleached

Judy Chicago 2016

caruar. homarrobis

6090

Support, Lorenzo Quinn, 2017

Tero Repo, Iceberg, 2012

