Rakovski High School celebrates the European Day of Languages

The teachers and students of our high school have chosen an unusual way to celebrate this special day. They invented an original slogan, made up of words from the 5 languages studied in our school - Bulgarian, French, Spanish, Italian, English.

MOGA PARLARE SOME LANGUES EUROPEAS

(I can speak some European languages)

Equipped with several interesting questions written in the 5 languages, they went to meet the inhabitants of Burgas to test their language skills and general culture.

Pleasant moments for the inhabitants of the city and the organizers of the event.

Under the blue sky and the radiant sun, the whole city of Burgas celebrated the understanding and the tolerance among the people, created by the command of different living languages.

Thank you to the entire Rakovski High School team who organized and participated in the event.
